What To Include in Your Emergency Kit

Having an emergency kit readily available is important so that you are fully prepared in the event of an emergency. We recommend that you store these supplies and other items you feel you would need in easy-to-carry plastic bins. These items come in handy for events such as hurricanes, wildfires, winter storms and more.

_____ Water (include one gallon per person, per day for several days; used for drinking and sanitation)

_____ Non-perishable food (such as canned tuna and salmon, peanut butter, jelly, canned or dry soups, canned stews and chili, canned vegetables, canned beans, etc.)

_____ Plastic plates, cups and silverware

_____ A means to heat food without standard electricity

_____ Pet food and extra water for your pet

_____ Infant formula, bottles, diapers, wipes and diaper rash cream

_____ Manual can opener

_____ Flashlight

_____ Cell phone and charger

_____ Batteries

_____ Portable power bank/Wireless charger

_____ Battery-powered radio

_____ First aid kit

_____ Medications

_____ Feminine supplies and personal hygiene items

_____ Complete change of clothes and sturdy shoes

_____ Sleeping bag/Warm blankets

_____ Important family documents (social security, ID, insurance info, emergency contact numbers, etc.) in waterproof containers

www.bizresourcecenter.com